Pursuing innovation

Crabel Capital Management is composed of people who believe more is always possible in quantitative investing

Crabel is a global alternative investment firm specializing in systematic, automated trading of worldwide futures and currencies. Our Los Angeles based firm was founded by short-term trading pioneer Toby Crabel and has delivered over 25 years of uncorrelated returns for its institutional clients. The firm has developed a broad, diverse array of trading strategies designed to systematically capture market anomalies, implemented through a technologically advanced, low latency infrastructure. Global colocation facilities and proprietary execution algorithms allow the firm to efficiently trade in more than 200 futures and foreign exchange markets.
