Ask Yourself

- Is my financial advisor just trying to sell me a product?
 - Why does he/she only recommend one type of investment (i.e. mutual funds, annuities)?
 - How do I know if my advisor is looking out for my best interests?
 - Are my fees transparent? Do I understand what I am paying my advisor?
 - Is my advisor proactive? Or does he/she only react when I reach out?

It May Be Time

To partner with a trusted, independent fee-only financial advisor who:

- Is free from the many conflicts of interest that exist
- Will act as a fiduciary- meaning solely upon your best interest
- Has the experience to guide clients in today's complex financial markets
- You can build a long term trusting relationship with
