Each client maintains an individual and segregated account with the bank in his/her own name or in the name of a legal entity. We manage every account separately under an individual, tailor-made mandate. There is never any co-mingling of assets between clients.

Since we are a small, family-owned company, you can rely on dealing with the same person for years. We know you and your objectives and we know how to deal with banks on your behalf, get results and solve any problems you may have. Since we are independent, we work for you and always make investment decisions suitable to your needs.
