Maximizing

Next Generation Efficient Green Energy for Rural Households in Bangladesh

World Bank estimates that approximately 60% of rural households are yet to get access to electricity in Bangladesh. Most of these families either depend on low standard candle or kerosene lit lantern or diesel run generators. All of these options are expensive and have adverse impact to health of user and environment. The clean and efficient solution to this scenario is the availability low cost and efficient solar systems. SOLARIC develops and manufactures 3G (third generation) solar home systems and power backup systems in Bangladesh. The Company's proprietary and patented micro-inverter technology optimizes the energy efficiency and improves the useful life of the solar home systems and power backup systems, by facilitating the use of smaller batteries and solar panels and energy-saving appliances. Its proprietary technology reduces the cost and increases the efficiency of these environmentally friendly, carbon-reducing power systems. More... (<http://seafbv.com/featured-companies/9>)

Changing the Way We Work: Documents Management in a Digital World

Technology integration... Business processes... Customer relationships... Corporate strategy... Human resources... Few companies can do all of these seamlessly. This is where Devnet comes in: offering unique advice and practical solutions and services to help businesses run better. Founded in 2000, Devnet began with imaging and archiving solution "ProSearcher". Four years later Devnet released the first document management solution of the country "DocuDEX". Since that time, it has continued to build an impressive client portfolio through its reputation for innovation, with strengths in high-speed document processing, as well as imaging, image quality, data capture, and intelligent character recognition technologies.
