Award based on 10 objective criteria associated with providing quality services to clients such as credentials, experience, and assets under management among other factors. He's fully dedicated to educating and guiding clients through each phase of their financial lives. In fact, Morris' attention to detail is something that his clients have come to appreciate and expect.

Morris is also a member of the Atlanta-based Integrated Financial Group—a consortium of independent financial planners from across the country. He operates his own financial consulting practice through LPL Financial, but as a Consortium Member, has access to a team of experienced, like-minded colleagues when needed.

"Being independent doesn't mean being alone," says Shank. "My membership with Integrated Financial Group's 'Brain Trust' of LPL financial planners allows me to source the most appropriate strategies for my clients. I've been with the Consortium since 2006, and the support I receive is invaluable."

Outside the office, Morris makes time for an active family life with his wife of 30 years and their two grown sons. He is a long-time boater, University of Missouri graduate, and devoted college basketball fan. Morris is also committed to sharing time and resources with boots-on-the-ground ministries and charities.
