We then package these investment strategies in a mutual fund product that any investment professional can access.

We have found that that it is often the smaller, lesser known investment managers that have delivered good performance over a full market cycle, but in many cases these investment managers are only accessible to the most informed, sophisticated, and largest investors. WE AIM TO CHANGE THAT.

Seeks to protect the purchasing power of principal and its capacity to generate income over time.

Aims to minimize the risk of principal loss during periods of economic and market adversity.

Attempts to outperform the general long-term market.

The prospectus contains this and other important information about the investment company, and a hard copy may be obtained by calling (855) 369-6220. Read it carefully before investing. Mutual fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. Investments in small- and mid-capitalization companies involve additional risks such as limited liquidity and greater volatility than large capitalization companies. Investments in foreign securities involve greater volatility; political, economic and currency risks; and differences in accounting methods. The Fund may have a relatively high concentration of assets in a single or smaller number of securities which can result in reduced diversification and greater volatility. The fund will bear its share of expenses and the underlying risks of investments in ETFs and other investment companies. The market price of the shares of an ETF will fluctuate based on changes in the net asset value as well as changes in the supply and demand of its shares in the secondary market. It is also possible that an active secondary market of an ETF's shares may not develop and market trading in the shares of the ETF may be halted under certain circumstances. Diversification does not assure a profit nor protect against loss in a declining market. Active investing has higher management fees because of the manager's increased level of involvement while passive investing has lower management and operating fees. Investing in both actively and passively managed mutual funds involves risk and principal loss is possible. Both actively and passively managed mutual funds generally have daily liquidity. There are no guarantees regarding the performance of actively and passively managed mutual funds. Actively managed mutual funds may have higher portfolio turnover than passively managed funds. Excessive turnover can limit returns and can incur capital gains.
