ABOUT RICK

Rick Hoy is founder and financial advisor with FinPoint Wealth Management in La Plata, MD. Rick has over 20 years of financial services experience with large and small institutions helping people pursue their personal financial goals. His work revolves around the personal information and quantified goals of his clients; explaining different solutions, each with varying risk/reward characteristics; putting strategies to work; and monitoring performance and the changes in his clients' lives, as well as the dynamic changes in the investment and insurance marketplaces. Rick works with business owners regarding managing cash flow, risk management, retirement planning, and exit strategies. He also works with families in finding solutions to their investment, retirement planning, insurance, college savings, and estate planning needs. Through the years one thing has remained constant; it all starts with a conversation.

In 1994 Rick began his career in financial services and investments (holding a Bachelor of
