Bregal Energy, previously known as Good Energies Capital, is a private equity fund broadly focused on the North American energy sector. As part of the Bregal Investments' family of funds that has invested over $10 Billion since 2002, we have substantial, long term funding.

Our team has deep expertise in oil & gas E&P, midstream, transmission development, traditional and renewable power generation and related services. We target equity investments of up to $100 million to support growth stage companies and the deployment of proven technologies across the North American energy sector.

We understand the needs of growing management teams and the uncertainties of project development. In addition, our extensive industry network and access to additional sources of financing complement all our portfolio companies. This combination of assets and experience makes Bregal Energy an ideal partner for world-class management teams with innovative energy businesses.
