

Who We Are

KRG Capital Partners (KRG) is a Denver, Colorado-based middle market private equity group that partners with entrepreneurs and management teams to build industry-leading companies through organic growth and a “customer-centric” add-on acquisition strategy.

Get to know KRG

How we invest is a reflection of our culture. It starts with pursuing control investments where we can have an impact, is embedded with an attitude of treating all parties in a transaction fairly and culminates in a strong working relationship with management teams to expand the current scope of a company’s products and services, operational capabilities and geographic footprint.

We align our interests with those of our senior management teams through meaningful equity incentive programs and look to provide sufficient capital necessary to complete a robust growth plan.

Our primary objective is to be viewed as the “Partner of Choice” to the principals involved, including entrepreneurs, management teams, investment bankers, co-investors, lenders and key service providers.

What We Look For

Since its founding in 1996, KRG has developed a consistent and disciplined investment strategy centered on companies and management teams that are positioned for growth within fragmented industries to create “best-in-class” market leaders. Our primary focus is on “buy and build” industry

What We Invest In

KRG has currently completed 46 platform investments and a total of 261 buyout transactions (including add-ons), with approximately $4.4 billion of equity either deployed or available for future investment (including approximately $1.2 billion from co-investors).

What We Bring to a Company

KRG believes that its experienced and multi-faceted investment professional team with backgrounds in private equity, business development, operations, law, accounting and finance provide effective resources to our portfolio companies and their management teams. Our principal objective is to consolidations. We start with a solid platform company and look to build it through a combination of organic growth and strategic add-on acquisitions.
