A Private Office Solution for Simplifying Business for Independent Advisors

As an independent financial advisor, you know the challenges of running your own firm. Research. Portfolio construction. Asset allocation and rebalancing. Reconciliation. Performance reporting. Tax optimization. You are juggling everything—all while trying to build and maintain valuable, trusted relationships with your clients.

At Lindner Capital Advisors, we've been helping fee-based advisors build better, stronger, more efficient practices for more than two decades. Of course, today's challenges are different than challenges of yesterday. Industry analysts say we're in an "age of disruption." At Lindner Capital Advisors, we view it as an "age of opportunity" filled with new technologies, a stronger focus on serving the client, and a new level of consumer awareness around investing—including how assets are allocated, and in what they are invested.

Why Investors Choose Advisors that Utilize LCA

Our trusted advisors are able to offer their clients top investment options at a lower cost than the industry average—all while having more time to do what they do best: work with individual investors one-on-one to help build a better tomorrow. What's Your Number?

Did you know human beings are twice as concerned about avoiding losses as they are about achieving potential gains?

That's one of the reasons humans tend to sabotage their own investing — selling when they get scared, missing the recovery, and buying back in when the markets “feel safe” again. Watch this video to learn more.
