BUILDING LASTING VALUE

So often the public narrative of successful technology companies focuses on the “up and to the right” growth curve. Yet we know few companies grow without hiccups. At Battery Ventures’ annual Leadership Summit, seasoned executives and icons of Silicon Valley will share the defining moments that tested their organizations and challenged them as leaders, and how they emerged to build some of the most iconic companies in the technology industry.

Learn what it takes to build lasting value—for decades and not just years, in some cases—as these speakers look back on key moments in their careers and share important decisions, trade-offs and milestones along their journeys from young company to industry stalwart.
