

“We are so pleased that our investments are receiving the attention they need.”

Welcome to the website for the investment and financial planning management services of the well-known authority on investing, Jonathan Pond. Click the button below find out how to get started or click around our site to learn more.

Getting Started

Wall Street Celebrates 10th Anniversary of Bull Market

As if to celebrate the ten year anniversary of the bull market, stocks worldwide posted another week of gains – this time of the order of 2%. Wisely, investors still harbor concern about how long the party can go on. Longevous bull markets are not unprecedented, just rare.

History has shown that April has been a good month to hold stocks. But two possible headwinds loom. First, will this month's quarterly corporate profit reports be okay? Second, will the Federal Reserve Board hold the line on interest rate hikes?

(April 8)