What is Aquiline?

Principles

Aquiline provides private capital to innovative leaders in financial services and technology. We look for teams that have cracked complex end markets, entrepreneurs who have commercialized their expertise, and companies that are indispensable to their clients.

Success stories can be found across the financial services sector. But we appreciate how many of these businesses operate behind the scenes, largely unnoticed and underappreciated by the broader market.

Aquiline partners with teams working to build these enterprises into category leaders.

but are important. As partners, we let those organizations take a more ambitious tack, supporting aggressive growth initiatives and other paths to equity value creation.

We want partners who draw value from our financial services reach, and look for them in business services, software, and healthcare as well as the financial sector.
