

Jaguar Listed Property (“JLP”) is a privately held SEC registered investment advisor specializing in listed real estate markets globally.

Headquartered in New York, with research offices in Amsterdam and Singapore, JLP is dedicated to structuring and managing real estate securities funds and segregated accounts for institutional investors in the US, Europe, Asia and Middle East. JLP operates in partnership with Jaguar Growth Partners, a privately-held investment management firm specializing in real estate private equity in growth markets globally, and Hwa Hong Corporation, an investment holding company listed on the Singapore Stock Exchange since 1979.

JLP takes a “private equity” approach to public investing, using fundamental real estate and securities analysis to identify current and future industry leaders who actively manage and develop commercial and residential real estate with objective to create long-term value, and building concentrated, high-conviction portfolios. Investments are typically focused on the most compelling risk/reward opportunities, unconstrained by industry benchmarks. JLP offers regional and global investment strategies, and is distinguished by its commitment to deep fundamental analysis and market knowledge with objective to maximize returns for investors.
