A REAL-WORLD APPROACH TO RETIREMENT PLANNING

As a professional in the pharmaceutical or health care industries, you may have access to comprehensive retirement benefits. The challenge is, you may not understand how to use those benefits to create the retirement you have envisioned.

Online retirement portals may fail to show how your options are affected by decisions such as the age at which you retire. You need a real-world approach (/how-we-help) to make suitable decisions regarding your retirement.

At Gibbons Financial Group, we specialize in working with pharmaceutical and health care professionals. Our mission is to help you make informed decisions about your options so you can work toward your vision of retirement success.

SERVICES

Many financial planning firms lack expertise in the benefits that you may have as a pharmaceutical or health care professional. We have geared our practice around a deep understanding of those benefits (/resources) and can provide clarity around the following topics:

Pensions

Social Security Estate Planning

Retirement Plans Health Care

Tax Implication s Restricted Stock Units Disability Insurance Deferred Compensa tion

While the majority of our clients work in the pharmaceutical and health care industries, we have decades-long experience in helping clients of all backgrounds. Should your spouse or other loved ones (http://womenmoneygoals.com/) work outside of these industries, we will provide financial and investment recommendations that incorporate their financial situation so you can truly understand the big picture.
