CADENCE

Equity Strategies for Today's Market and Investors

The way investors achieve equity exposure is being transformed through factor focused strategies for efficient markets and systematically driven alpha strategies for inefficient market segments.

Factor Based Strategies

In Search of Better Beta

Factor-driven strategies provide efficient core components in the portfolios of institutions, asset allocators and sophisticated individual investors.

Fundamentally Driven Alpha

The potential for equity alpha remains compelling in markets where change is constant and information is less readily available.

Seasoned. Stable. Focused.

An organization with a distinguished history of quantitative investing, operating from a solid foundation.
