- KStone seeks to invest in portfolio managers that have marketable securities underlying their strategies as the Portfolios ማለህ መደገኝ የመደገፉ የመደ
 - KStone attempts to avoid investing in managers pursuing illiquid strategies
- Certain Portfolios utilize modest amounts of leverage, primarily for working capital needs, at the portfolio level and generally invest in underlying alternative investment products that use reasonable amounts of leverage
- KStone seeks to manage portfolio volatility and correlations to the S&P 500 Total Return Index and Barclay's Capital U.S. Aggregate Index

Investment Process

The process starts with our investment philosophy and includes four major stages

Research is Key

KStone's extensive network of relationships, established over many years, in the credit-related arbitrage and relative value hedge fund community produces numerous investment opportunities

Incremental fees are modest compared to substantial additional benefits to investors

Access

Enables investors to invest in hedge funds that they would otherwise not be able to access

Risk Reduction

- Generally, funds of hedge funds have lower correlations to equity and fixed income markets than individual hedge funds
- Non-directional hedge funds are a different asset class from traditional asset classes
- Limits downside risk of an individual hedge fund blowup

Expertise, Due Diligence & Monitoring Requirements

- Hedge funds are complex and require in-depth analysis and expertise
- Substantial time commitment is required prior to investing and once invested

Diversification

- Fund of hedge fund diversification likely more effective than investor just adding direct fund investments
- Different hedge fund strategies work better at different times so having a diversified portfolio of strategies is desirable
- Permits diversification that is not possible given high minimum investments for most hedge funds

Informational Advantage

Constant monitoring of markets and alternative strategies allows funds of hedge funds management to shift among strategies quickly and efficiently to take advantage of opportunities
