We are in the business of “extending the runway” for fast-growing companies looking for alternative or supplemental growth financing.

Our senior management team has been on the front lines—on average more than 20 years each—helping to grow businesses into success stories. We understand what it takes to be a true partner to entrepreneurs working hard every day to make their companies successful. We move quickly when needed, are patient when prudent, and provide measured, thoughtful expertise around the capital needs of rapidly growing enterprises.

Runway provides access to robust resources, including in-depth market research, high-impact industry conferences and summits, and a global network of founders, operators, executives and venture capitalists. We believe that our capital will make a positive difference for growth companies, and for many reasons beyond just the purely financial.

We've aligned ourselves with an exceptional, experienced strategic partner in Oaktree Capital Management, L.P. (“Oaktree”).
