What Can I Do In Only 21 Days?

Sometimes, twenty-one days feels like forever—like if you're trying to plow through a season of record-breaking snow or a huge pile of paperwork. But in other ways, twenty-one days is just a blip on the timeline of your life. Snap your fingers and, bam, it's over like that. I believe over the next twenty-one days you can take a few simple strategies and put them into action now. That's why I've created this 21-Day Wealth Makeover. No, no, no—this isn't a “get rich this month” scheme.

You won't get wealthy in three weeks, but what you will do is re-create your systems and ways of life to set you up for a lifetime of benefits. I know this process can be intimidating, so make no mistake: these three weeks aren't about doing everything. They're about establishing new baselines, new habits, new outlooks, and new ways of thinking and investing. Best of all, I've designed this plan so very few tasks will take more than a few minutes a day. (Of course, their time to the overhaul process.)

So now the questions are: How do you put it all together? How do you take my strategies and integrate them into your life? How do you change your outlook to change your investment accounts? How do you re-invent rich?

Sign up for the Twenty-One Day Wealth Makeover and see how you can re-invent rich.

I'm so excited about Irvin Schorsch's book, Reinvent Rich. I have known Irvin for more than thirty years, and I know that he is so passionate about helping people gain financial security and freedom to help them improve their lives. Selfishly, I love that goal because in the process of people gaining more wealth, they're also gaining better health. That's not just good for the individual, it's good for all of us!

In 1995, Irvin Schorsch founded Pennsylvania Capital Management with the entrepreneurial vision to build a firm centered on the client first and foremost and to help people crystallize their thinking about the future of their lives and financial goals. Irvin represents a new breed of wealth advisors who are passionate about providing the highest level of personalized service and attention. He's committed to developing a life-long, multi-generational relationship with our clients. This involves gaining a deeper understanding of family dynamics, their spending habits and the nuances of how individuals, couples and private business owners approach and prepare for major milestones and transitions.

Irvin is the ultimate optimist and the visionary of Pennsylvania Capital Management. He believes that with enough effort, the right level of commitment, and an understanding of what the finish line looks like, people can achieve virtually anything. He challenges clients to achieve a richer, fuller life with a greater sense of purpose. Together they develop life planning strategies to help them realize their financial hopes and dreams.

The 21 Day Wealth Makeover

That's why I've created this 21-Day Wealth Makeover. No, no, no—this isn't a “get rich this month” scheme. You won't get wealthy in three weeks, but what you will do is re-create your systems and ways of life to set you up for a lifetime of benefits. I know this process can be intimidating, so make no mistake: these three weeks aren't about doing everything. They're about establishing new baselines, new habits, new outlooks, and new ways of thinking and investing. Best of all, I've designed this plan so very few tasks will take more than a few minutes a day.

On each day, commit to this one action (even if it's just spending time thinking about a given topic), and you'll come out with the groundwork done to create a new kind of wealth, a new kind of you, and a new kind of opportunity to create the freedom and flexibility to enjoy life to the fullest.
