Things You Should Know About Social Security and Your Retirement (/blog/things-you-should-know-about-social-security-and-your-retirement)

Apr 05, 2019 by Eagle Creek Financial Advisors

With more than 95% of American workers currently covered by Social Security, there are some things about this massive retirement program that you should probably know. If you're still in your forties or fifties, you can probably wait a few years to learn the intricacies of Social Security, but if you've recently entered your 6th decade on this planet, here are a few things you should be aware of:

- Your social security retirement age can vary, depending on the...

2018 Tax Changes You Need to Know (/blog/2018-tax-changes-you-need-know)

Nov 09, 2018 by Eagle Creek Financial Advisors

As we draw closer to the last quarter of 2018, Americans are starting to think more about the changes to the U.S. tax code. Though the tax code has been tweaked in recent years, it's been 27 years since the last major revision that took place under President Reagan. Whether you plan on doing your own taxes, or will be consulting with a CPA or other tax professional, take some time to familiarize yourself with the multiple changes that will take effect in 2019 for the 2018 tax year:...

Clone of A Summary of 2018 Tax Changes (/blog/clone-summary-2018-tax-changes)

Jun 21, 2018 by Eagle Creek Financial Advisors

The Trump administration's new tax reform bill was signed into law in December of 2017, representing the first major tax change in over 30 years. The changes are significant and are likely to affect nearly everyone in some measure; some positively, while others may find themselves with a higher tax bill in 2018. All of the changes represented in the new tax bill will be in effect through 2025.

The first major change was the reduction of the tax rate in six out of seven...
