Refocusing the Journey

“Every day you may make progress. Every step may be fruitful. Yet there will stretch out before you an ever-lengthening, ever-ascending, ever-improving path. You know you will never get to the end of the journey. But this, so far from discouraging, only adds to the joy and glory of the climb.”

- Sir Winston Churchill

Changes in our lives, good or bad, usually bring some level of discomfort. There is fear in change because it always involves something different replacing the familiar. Our current reality is challenged because a new reality is forced upon us. Change is endless and constant and seems to be progressively more significant. The view of our future is now uncertain and less focused.

Our journey through life often takes us in a different direction than we anticipated. We have personally lived it and we have lived through it with our clients. Collectively, the two partners of The Maier Group, LLC, have over 50 years of experience in helping individuals plan and deal with the challenges thrown their way as they try to make progress.
