Global Value Investing since 1991

Welcome to ENR Asset Management, Inc.

Since 1991, we've devoted our business to finding undervalued global investments while minimizing market volatility for our investors in the United States. In fact, since January 2007, the flagship ENR Global Contrarian Portfolio has recorded approximately 80% less risk compared to the MSCI World Index based on Beta, a measure of systematic risk.

ENR offers investment advisory (managed) and advisory (self-directed) services in the United States, Switzerland and Austria. Over the past 20 years, we've helped U.S. investors establish European private banking relationships for investment, asset protection, estate-planning and diversification purposes. We also provide among the most competitive private banking fees for our investors in Europe.

ENR offers a total of five investment strategies, including contrarian large-cap dividend growth, aggressive global growth, and precious metals and mining. Our core strengths include global blue-chip dividend equities, precious metals investing and foreign currencies. Our stock-picking emphasizes mostly large-cap multinationals that dominate their industries and increase dividends above the U.S. inflation rate.

We also hedge our large-cap growth portfolios, if the market environment dictates reducing risk. Historically, the ENR Global Contrarian Portfolio has protected capital better compared to the MSCI World Index, especially in 2008. ENR's investment programs are available for taxable and non-taxable accounts in the United States.
