Our philosophy, history, and about hill today

Hill Today

Today, Hill Investment Group transforms the financial lives of families across the United States with investable assets of $2 million or above. In 2017, the firm launched Hillfolio, a groundbreaking investment model that uses evidence-based strategies to deliver premium services to clients with investable assets of more than $200,000.

Our Philosophy

Our investment philosophy is grounded in the science of investing and has decades of research to support it. While many investors are in search of a guru or someone who can see around corners, the data and evidence suggest that it's simply not possible, especially on a consistent and forward-looking basis.

The deeper you dive into the science, the more compelling our philosophy and its resulting strategy becomes. The benefits: peace of mind, and better odds of long-term investing success.

Our History

Rick Hill and Matt Hall founded Hill Investment Group in 2005 after working together since the 1990s. Their goal was to create a new standard, devoting a greater portion of their time to current and prospective clients. Dubbed the 'Island of Idealism' in the early days, the notion lives on.

We are a carefully curated team with members who believe passionately in delivering simplicity and transparency to our clients.
